- The Working Group for Cooperation on Children at Risk, (WGCC), was established after a decision taken at a high-level meeting of CBSS high officials responsible for Children's Issues on 31 October 2001 in Stockholm. The WGCC is tasked with identifying, supporting and implementing cooperation on children at risk with the states and partner organisations in the region. The WGCC has set five priorities for its work: Child sexual exploitation; Separated and trafficked children in the region; Children in institutions; Children in the street; Children that commit crimes and lead a self-destructive life. Latvia is presently chairing the WGCC.
- The Child Centre serves as a web-based focal point for information and contact between professionals and officials on research, seminars and ongoing projects concerning children at risk in the Baltic Sea region. Its objectives are to increase awareness and knowledge of services and methods to prevent and protect children from violence and abuse and to increase expertise in how to rehabilitate children who have been exposed. Professionals in the region need reliable and comprehensive access to information on important publications, ongoing research and projects regarding children at risk. Child specialists in fields such as prevention and rehabilitation also have a need for consultations with colleagues in the entire region. The Child Centre offers these facilities.
- The Children's Unit organises expert meetings, seminars and other activities within the prioritised areas. The Children's Unit thus promotes collaboration and contacts, enhancing the sharing of expertise between professionals working with issues related to children at risk both within the public sector and in the NGO sector. As of March 2002 the Children's Unit is an integrated part of the CBSS Secretariat.
